

CISCO™

Saving Money with Unified Communications

In today's workplace, receiving timely, relevant communications becomes a more and more complex process. Telephone, email, voicemail, and conferencing are all critical, whether working in the office, working from home, or working on the road. How do you ensure that information flows between your colleagues, customers and suppliers effectively?

'On the day you will see how to –

- Use single number reach
- Achieve fixed to mobile convergence
- Deploy unified messaging, wireless and SIP

You will see how the technology can also provide substantial cost savings.
